Farm Bureau Notes R. D. BAILEY County Agricultural Agent

Attending Farmers' Week.

Another year has winged its swift flight, and I am again at Lansing, ready for the rich program of lectures and demonstrations, put on for farmers and their wives, known as Farmers' Week.

mers' Week.

I wish that every farmer in the state could attend Farmers' Week. The number who attend increases each year. All go home feeling a new respect for agriculture, and new inspiration to live the life of the farmer more efficiently, and happily.

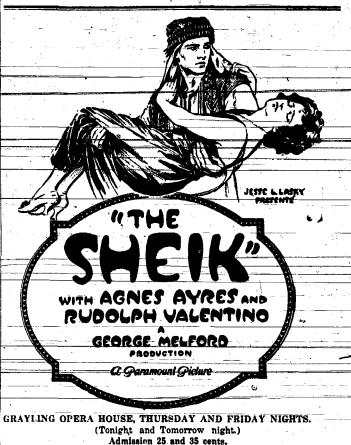

Went To Church.
Though I room at the hotel in Lansing I went out to sur Agriculturial College, three miles, to attend the People's Church. It is rightly named; for it is the only church in East Lansing, and is regularly attended by people of eighteen church beliefs. They have a very large congregation and get along well together, too.

This is no new experiment that has not yet had time to fail; for this church was organized in 1908.
This church expends its energy in doing good and in reaching the individual, rather than in trying to prove that it is the one church that has a cinch on heave.

VALENTINES OF OLDER STYLE

May Seem Somewhat Funny to Those Accustomed to the Somewhat Advanced Ideas Prevailing Today.

The timid reluctance of an oldfashloned Valentine girl is expressed by the lines:

"Of course you may be bashful,"
But think how much 'twould

please me If you would be my Valentine. And try no more to tease me."
"He loves me!" cries a funny little maiden, as with a moving hand she plucks astonishingly large petals from marks, "Say Kid, put on your chains; you're skidding." Strictly up-to-date is an automobile of which the tonneau is a huge red heart. The young man in it is directing his course with an arrow which pierces the heart, and beneath is the sentiment, "I'd like to park-this at your door."

Marshal Foch's Advice.

"The way to move forward is by patience, by earnest endeavor, by diligent study, by threless work," says Marshal Foch, who did a fair share f moving forward during the war "Plan your battle of life in advance. Map out every detail of what you want to accomplish, and then follow out your program. The Marshal gives his formula for success in two sentences: "He who hesitates is lost. He who moves forward wins."

SAINT VALENTINE.

Saint Valentine was a Roman Cath ruary. Several explanations are giv-en for the familian custom of sending anonymous love tokens, cards of greet-ing and the like to one's favorites, connected with that day. Some say that Saint Valentine was accustomed to go around from house to house. leaving food on the doorsteps of the poor, and that the custom of sending Valentine greetings anonymously developed from that. Another explanation connects the modern celebration of the day with the observance of the Roman festival Lupercalia, which occurred on February 18, At, this time, so the story goes, each of the yours men celebrating the festival drew from a box the name of a lady, to Meeting called to order by President George N. WATCH YOUR OVERHEAD" SAYS C. W. NASH TO AUTO-MOBILE DEALERS.

Less extravagance, more energy of the "old fashioned" kind and closer watching of overhead expense was the prescription written by C. W. Nash for the automobile industry just before the opening of the Chicago show. The advice was given by the president of The Nash Motors Company at a meeting of Nash dealers in Milwaukee.

C. B. Voorhis, vice president and general sales manager of the com-pany declared that indications point strongly to the first peep-of the sun over the hill and that business generally this year will show improvement. "The day of reckless extravagance on the part of the automobile manufacturer and dealer has come to an abrupt and definite end." said Mr. Nash. "Every man in this industry who wishes to survive must conduct ais business as other lines of busine are conducted. Above all he must eli-minate waste; he must watch his ov-erhead as he never watched it before.

"There never was an industry so brutally murdered by unsound business methods as the motor car industry. That is why I advise you dealers to get your house in order and keep it in order. The Nash Motors Company has passed through a sound was dealer to the control of the contr pany has passed through a sound year due entirely to the fact that we have been in a position to buy materials as low as anybody and our product priced accordingly and to the fact that the state of th ther fact that we constantly and ever-lastingly watch our overhead ex-

Herndon used to say that the only thing he had against Lincoln was his habit of coming in mornings and sprawling on the lounge and reading aloud from the newspaper.

The people of the town loved him. One day, as we were walking along the street together, we came upon a girl dressed up and crying in front of her father's door.

Neither gave a thought to their able colleague a poor man struggling to build up a great newspaper. An office, with tair pay, would have been a help in those days. But he got no recognition of his needs and talents and services Suddenly he wrote a letter to Weed in which he said:

"The firm of Seward. Weed and Greeley is hereby dissolved by the resignation of its junior member.'

When Greeley had grown in power and wisdom until his pame was known and honored from ocean to ocean, they tried to make peace with him, but

Then suddenly a new party and a new Lincoln were born on the same Bloomington, Illinois. There his soul was to come into its statellest manrived. He was prepared for it. His intellect had also reached the fulness of its nower. Now his great right hand was ready for the thunderbolts which his spirit had been slowly forg ing, God called him in the voices of

Wonderland of North Oueensland

He went up the steps to the platform I saw, as he came forward, that he had taken the cross upon him. Oh, if was a memerable thing to see the smothered flame of his spirit leaping into his face. His hands were on his hips. He seemed to grow tailer as he advanced. The look of him reminds me now of what the famous bronze founder in Parts said of the deathmask, that it was the most beautiful shall I say of his words save that it seemed to me that the voice of God was in them? The reporters forgo to report. It is a lost speech. There is no record of it. I suppose it was scribbled with a pencil on scraps of backs of envelope at sundry times, agreeably with his nabit, and committed to memory. So this great speech, called by some the noblest effort of his life, was never printed. I remember one sentence, relating to the Nebraska bill.

"Let us use ballots, not bullets, against the weapons of violence, which are those of kingcraft. Their fruits are the dying bed of the fearless Sum-ner, the ruins of the Free State hotel, the smoking timbers of the Herald of Freedom the governor of Kansa; chained to a stake like a horse-thief."

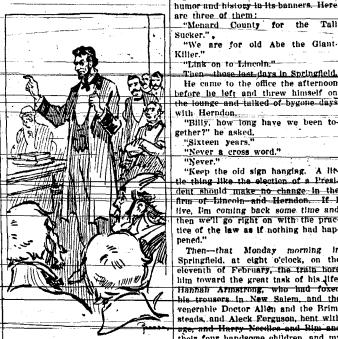

In June, 1858, he took the longest step of all. The Republican state con vention had endorsed him for the Uni ted States senate. It was then that he wrote on envelopes and scraps of paper at odd moments, when his mind was off duty, the speech begin-

"A house divided against itself must full - Our government can not long

I was among the dozen friends to whom he read that speech in the State nouse library. One said of those first sentences: "It is a fool utterance." Another: "It is shend of its time." Another declared that it would drive away the Democrats who had lately joined the party. Herndon and I were the only ones who approved it.

Lincoln had come to another fork in the road. For a moment I wondered Immediately he rose and said-with His conscience prevailed. The speech was delivered. Douglas, the Democratic candidate, came on from Washington to answer it. That led bate. I was with him through that long campaign. Douglas was the more finished orator. Lincoln spoke as he split rails. His conscience was his beetle. He drove his arguments leep into the souls of his hearers. The science. Captain Moncton in his "Experiences of a New Guinea Resident Mage ". relates the following inciharren island formed of coral ruck and destitute of all vegetation, he found it to be the home of an ence trace of other animal life, and it was impossible to imagine now, except by continual preying upon one another, it was possible for these rats to subsist.

"While seated at the water's edge, turning over the problem in his mind, he noticed some of the rats going down to the edge of the reef-lank, hungry-looking creatures they were, with pink, naked tails. He stopped on the point of throwing lumps of coral at them, out of curiosity to what they meant to do. His curiosity was soon gratified. Rat after rat picked a flattish place and, squattira on the edge, dangled its tail in the steads, and Aleck Ferguson, bent with water,

"Presently one sat gave a violem ap of a vard landing well star at the water, and with a crab clinging to its tall. Turning around, the grabbed the crab and devoured it. and then returned to the stone. Other rats were seen repeating the perform ance."

It was translated into several languages, and won for the author the election as canoness of the Teutonic order of St. Joschim.

Some years before the appearance of Scott's "Waverley," Jane Parter attempted the national romance in her 'Scottish Cliefts." The story of wallace had been a great favorite with her since childhood; and the poem of "Blind Harry" (Heary the Minstrel) was doubtless well known to her. The book lacked historicist accuracy and she made the figure of Wallace a rather

Bran-New Type of Enclosed Car at $1,350, Makes Initial Bow at Chicage Show.

The Nash Carriole for five passengers, the last word in high-grade light enclosed cars, makes its bow as a new member of the Nash line. It is being shown to the public for the first time at the Chicago Automobile Show.

The Carriole is built on the Nash four-cylinder chassis and is designed us a light enclosed family car. It is handsome in appearance, comfortable and powerful. The price, $1,350 f. o. b. factory, has amazed those who have had an encountries to invest it. b. factory, has amazed those who lead an opportunity to inspect it.

The body of the Nash Carriole is of all metal, similar to the bodies used on most high grade Sedans and Coupes. The lines of the body are grace-iul and the car length is such that its appearances is in striking contrast to its low price. Every detail in its construction is in keeping with that construction is in keeping with that products of The Nash Motors Company. The front sents are individual with an aisle between; they are of the parior-car type. Both may be folded forward the driver's sent close against the steering wheel and the right hand seat may be folded under the cowl-when not in use.

The front seats are unholstered in genuine leather. The rear seat for three passengers is upholstered in a fine grade of wool cloth and the interior trimming is all in this same luxulous material.

Both doors are wide, making entrance and exit-easy. Windows front and rear may be raised or lowered by the turning of a handle and in back of the car-is a large plate glass window. There is a dome light for interior illumination at night and all appointments are in excellent taste. The

STATE TRAVELING LIBRARIES.

Inauguration of the traveling li-brary system marked the opening of an era of state wide service rendered by the Michigan state library. The traveling libraries, of which 418 were distributed during the year of 1921, afford secluded communities an opportunity to enjoy the advan-tages of good literature. Not the smaller communities alone benefit by the system, for included among the requests last year were those from organizations and clubs of the larger cities.

The libraries are composed of 50 books, selected by trained librarians.
The various reading material in these traveling libraries is such that all de-traveling libraries is such that all demands are satisfied.

To Mrs. Mary C. Spencer, state librarian, goes the lion's share of the credit for succeeding in an undertaking of such magnitude. Mrs. Spencer, a number of years ago, personally inspected the system installed in New York, the first of its kind. Later she incorporated ideas gleaned from this survey with advancements planned by herself with the result that the traveling library system of Michigan today is generally considered ideal.
